STAY Guaranteed to bring out the kid in you, the Seguin tree dwellings in Georgetown, Maine, are perched high on a 21-acre wooded hill near Reid State Park, which offers five-plus miles of scenic coastal trails. A stop at the famed Five Islands Lobster Co. nearby is a must. seguinmaine.com

DINE Think Maine cuisine is all lobster rolls? Fore Street in Portland sources the best in local ingredients. What doesn't come from local farms or waters is often foraged. If you don't have room for dessert, we highly recommend bringing home a box of the handcrafted chocolates. forestreet.biz

SEE Few holiday traditions are as festive as cutting down your own Christmas tree. Anderson Hill Tree Farm in Enfield, New Hampshire, is one of the most scenic places to do it. While you're there, consider taking a hike on one of the property's trails overlooking the nearby mountains. andersonhilltreefarm.com

SHOP With the country's second-highest per capita student enrollment, Boston is undoubtedly bookish. Founded in 1825, Brattle Book Shop is one of America's oldest and largest antiquarian bookshops and the perfect place to get lost in on a cold winter day.
